SHARON MCCORMACK COLLECTION

Biography

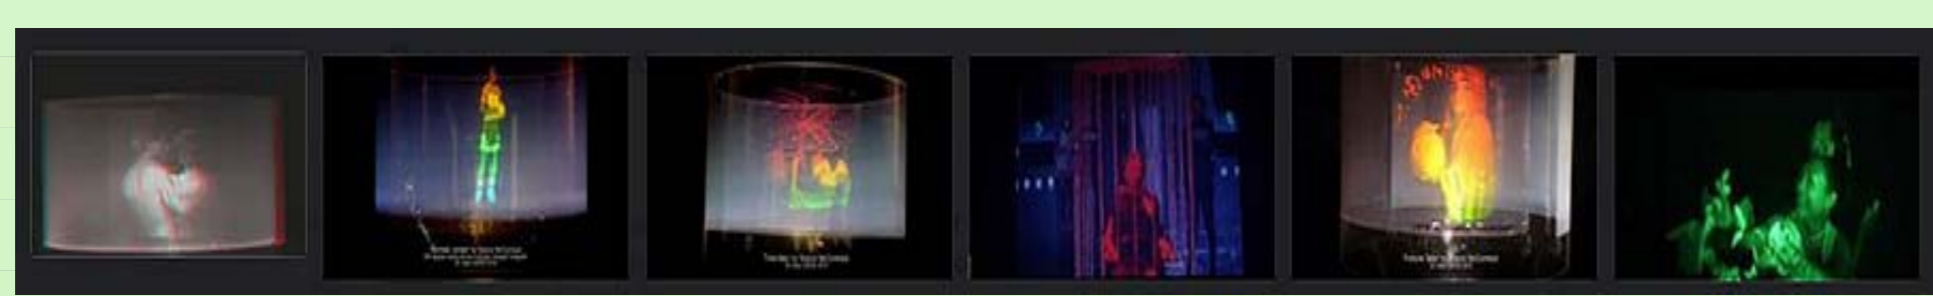

Sharon McCormack (1948-2016) studied photography and cinematography before she discovered holography in the early 1970's in San Francisco at the School of Holography. Her natural and educated interests in photography, cinematography, and holography combined in for creation of 'Multiplex' motion-picture holographic stereograms (also called 'Integrals') which Sharon created over decades of work and which this Collection & Archive reveals.

"Motion-pictures hovering in space"

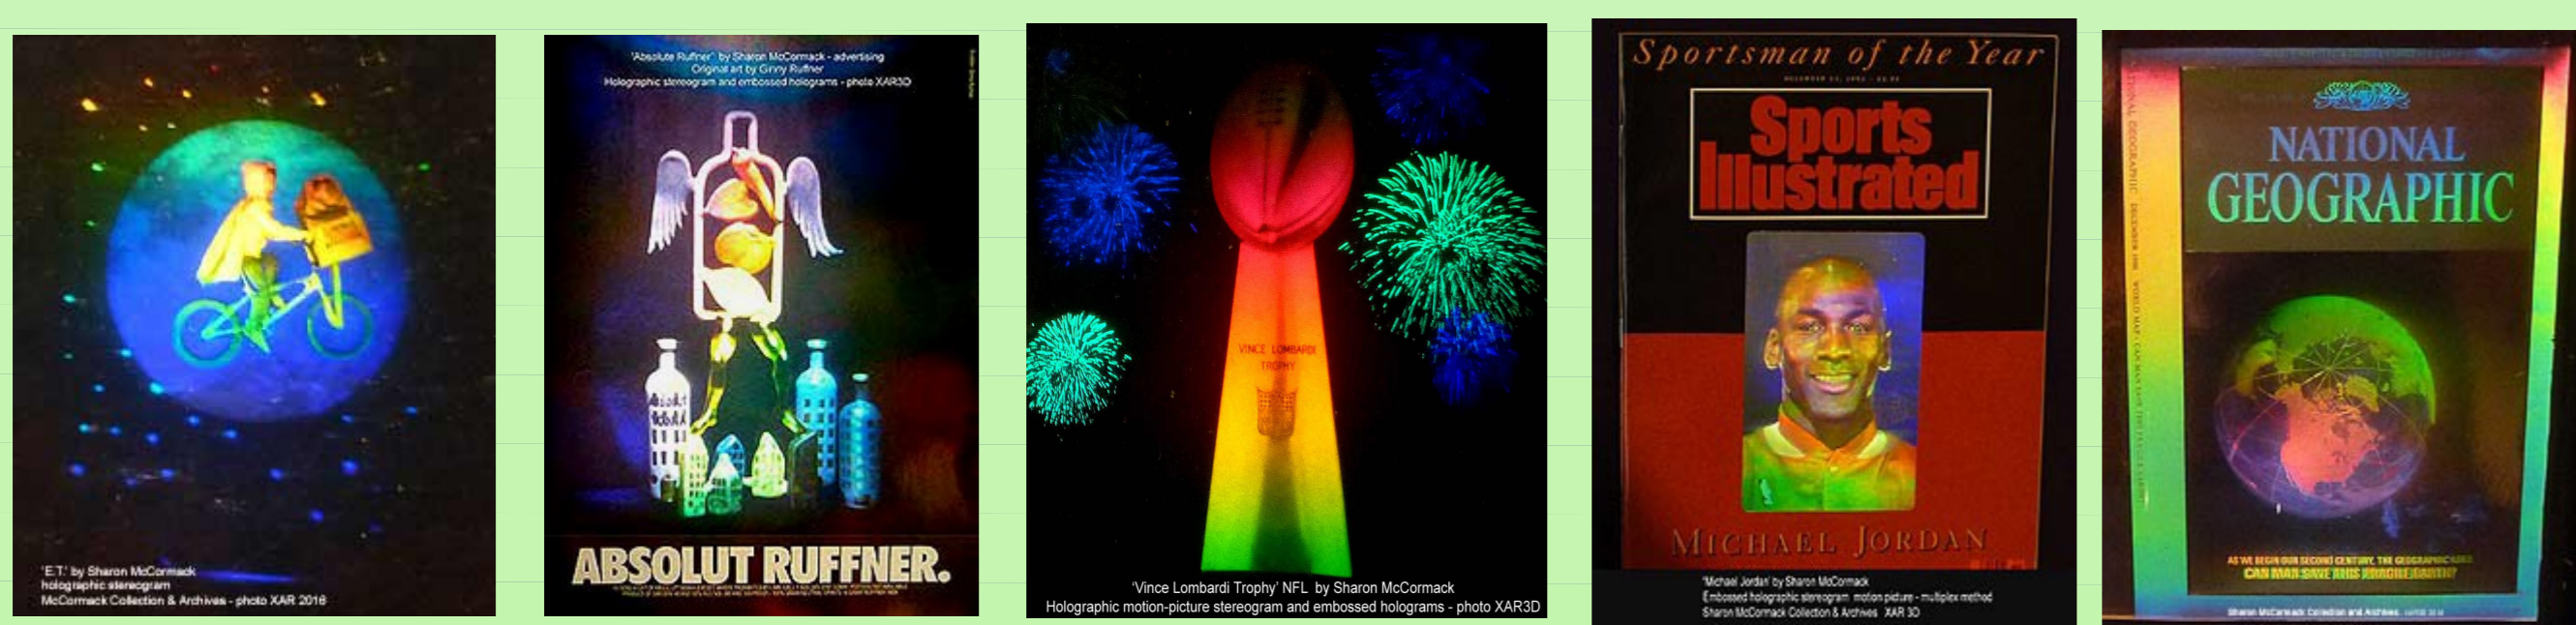

Sample Collection 'multiplex' hologram subjects:

Video clips of Multiplex holograms on FaceBook:

Embossed holograms and mass-produced magazine covers

Original metal plates and art works for embossed holograms

Multiplex technology – historical archives – promotional material
